

TAFT FOR SECOND TIME VETOES BILL

House Prepared to Pass Measure Again, but Senate's Action Is Doubtful.

Washington, August 20.—President Taft's second veto of the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, which will be sent in a message to Congress to-morrow, will find the House prepared to pass the bill again over his veto, according to House leaders. Chairman Fitzgerald, of the Appropriations Committee, stated to-day that the House would undoubtedly re-pass the measure.

As the bill went to the President, it provided for the abolishment of the Commerce Court. The procedure to which the President again refuses to agree. The other provisions inserted by the House, cutting off appropriations for the Bureau of Manufacturers and Commercial Agents, were objected to by the Senate, and finally taken out of the bill before it went to the White House.

The delay over this bill makes the adjournment in both Houses, as yet, on each side are eager to get away by Saturday. The adjournment of the House as a climax to a day of exhibitions of temper a fight developed over the question of adjournment of the session, with the result that a tedious roll call was forced in order to bring transient members into the chamber.

BRINGS $103,000 AT AUCTION.

Property of Bankrupt West End Furnace Company Sold.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Richmond, Va., August 20.—The property of the West End Furnace Company, which several months ago filed a petition in bankruptcy, has been sold at auction for $103,000. The purchasers were B. Nichols and George W. Wiley, who bid in the property for themselves and the holders in Baltimore and Philadelphia. The sale included the plant of the West End Furnace, fifty acres of ground and buildings, some in and some outside the city. That part of the operation brought $100,000. Seven houses in Norfolk, originally built for the operations at the plant were sold for $3,400.

The personal property of the concern, including a valuable lease on fifty acres of iron ore land in Giles County, was bid in for $3,000. The ore land is variously estimated at from 100,000 to 2,000,000 tons. It is a high grade ore and the mines are located on the Norfolk and Western at Interior, so that the product is available readily. The old company had put in at the mines improvements costing from $10,000 to $15,000.

ONE BATTLESHIP PROVIDED IN BILL

House Adopts Conference Report and Measure Goes to President.

Washington, August 20.—By a vote of 151 to 50, the House to-day adopted the conference report on the naval appropriation bill. The measure which will now go to the President provides for one battleship and a number of submarines, colliers and auxiliary vessels. Thirteen members opposed to the battleship program voted "present."

The bill as it goes to the President carries $11,250,000, an increase of approximately $4,000,000 over the measure as it passed the House. Secretary Meyer to-day philosophically accepted the one battleship program of Congress and has already named the projected new marine monitor the Pennsylvania.

The new ship will be 430 feet long, of about 21,000 tons, with twelve four-inch guns and exceptionally heavy armor. Secretary Meyer to-night, commenting on the action of Congress upon the battleship program, said:

"The action taken this year will call for an appropriation for three battleships at the next session of Congress. If the efficiency of the fleet and the present policy of two battleships a year accepted throughout the country is to be maintained."

BLEASE BEATEN IN SOUTH CAROLINA

majority of ten votes will save and redeem the State. Blease will unquestionably find that his cotton mill vote will fall far below expectations. The cotton mill operative is a bad actor in politics. Some of them may be bought, but they won't stay bought. Mill presidents have driven into their heads the fact that the mill owner and the mill hand are but halves of the same apple, that their interests are identical, and that when Blease attempts to injure the mills he will cut down the wages of the men and women who spin. They are beginning to see it. They realize that they are being juggled about exactly in the same manner that the Republican party has juggled the negro in the South. The best element in the mill villages is against Blease.

There are many queer people in South Carolina who contend that the newspapers will re-elect Blease because they have continually fought him. One's own idea as to the waning influence of the editorial page, but the fact is clear to any intelligent mind that had the newspapers remained silent South Carolina would have suffered again for two years while the present Governor languished in the executive mansion. Besides, the bulk of the voters don't read the newspapers. He has often been claimed that the Columbia State elects Blease by neglecting him, but it seems fairer and nearer the truth to state that the same newspaper will beat him this year.

Bleese Losing His Grip.
A word about Charleston. Two years ago the blind tiger element and the gamblers gave Blease a big majority in that city. Next week Charleston will rise up and smite its former friend. You can get all the liquor your system may require in Charleston, no matter who is Governor, and if those 3,000 Charleston voters who were formerly to Blease are turned against him, the opposition in the up-country, which has been out of it. Aside from that, Blease has lost his grip on political leaders, who really elected him in 1910. Women's influence is no small factor, and might few South Carolina women are bold enough to declare for Blease. The women who have gone to the mountains for the summer are sending their husbands and sons back to the polls. The ministers have jumped into politics. One church association, which 10,000 members, has adopted resolutions calling upon the people to vote for Jones.

His Record Laid Bare.
The record of Blease has been laid bare. The dark spots have been made brilliant under the limelight. They have shown what manner of man he is, and the day when he was expelled from the South Carolina University. They have brought forth alleged facts to support the charge that while State Senator he was putty in the hand of the railroads. They have charged that he grew fat on the dispensary. They have shown his detestable swears to their evidence that he had been selling pardons to the most notorious criminals in the State Penitentiary. They have called to mind his famous, or infamous, statement, "To hell with the Constitution." They have quoted the record to show that he openly advocates lynch law. They say, finally, that he is a coward because he will permit any man to call him a liar.

Main Point Is Defeat.
But the record of Blease is an old story. The point at issue is the redemption of the State, and the news of the whole thing lies in the fact that the decent people have votes enough to drive him out of office. By some strange visitation of misfortune, he might be elected again, although that seems improbable in the face of facts and figures and information which come from all quarters. But if he should win the election, he would be a two-faced, for he might have legislative sympathy with him. In any event, God pity South Carolina. It hasn't been that way heretofore.

Looking at it from another angle, there is almost as much danger in defeat as in victory. There is no telling what he might not do. Still, if he should scrape in on Tuesday, every possible effort will be put forth to have the Legislature impeach him. So the people figure that the State will escape trouble and bloodshed by electing Judge Jones.

Rough Neck Argument.
A typical rough-neck, a member of the Legislature, and a man who has often appeared on the wrong side of the bar in court, really expresses the opinion of the Blease followers in his present reference to the photograph which is alleged to have recorded the evidence of a Governor's grafting. "Don't you believe that Mr. Dicta-graph," said the rough-neck. "I know him, he is a foreigner, and you can't believe a damned word he says." This same rough-neck is helping to make the laws and using his money to help elect Blease. Burns did not turn any Blease men to Jones by his sensational disclosures, but Burns aroused the people to action, and the pardon-selling charge and scandal may yet be the one thing which turned the trick.

A prominent manufacturer who was a student at the South Carolina University with Blease said to-day that he would send his son to the University of Virginia in the fall. That, at least, was his intention, he said. "But I'll send him to South Carolina if Blease is beaten. We think mighty well of your Mr. S. C. Mitchell, but I won't send my son to a college in which Blease is an ex-officio member of the board. We expelled him from there, and for two years he has been one of its bosses. The whole thing shows how low he has fallen."

Ready to Catch His Jack.
It may be that a false optimism is prevalent throughout South Carolina. It may be that the prophets are wrong, but when the Jones people claim 30,000 majority they must know whereof they speak. Greenville County will give Jones a tremendous majority, which may account for the statement hereabout that it will be that way all over the State. A decent citizen cannot think otherwise. Not many decent people are openly for Blease. Blease made his jack two years ago. Next week that jack will be caught, and the prayers of a whole State will have been answered. But if Blease should happen to win—South Carolina good night.

Two Beauty Secrets for Summer Months

Hair requires frequent shampooing in summer because of the great amount of dust and dirt in the air, and if you dissolve a teaspoonful of cantharox in a cup of hot water you will have a simple mixture for a cleansing, invigorating and wonderfully satisfying shampoo. After using cantharox, the hair dries quickly and evenly, and will be ever as soft and brilliant even in the hottest weather. Then you can dry your hair up in any style with little effort.

Cantharox lotion is ideal for hot weather, because it permits the pores to do their work properly, and when this is done pimples, blackheads, oiliness and fine lines vanish. Physicians Recommend Castoria

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: First—The indisputable evidence that it is harmless: Second—That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food: Third—It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for Castor Oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any Opium, Morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrups, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a Medical Journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. B. Halstead Scott, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria often for infants during my practice, and find it very satisfactory."

Dr. William Belmont, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "Your Castoria stands first in its class. In my thirty years of practice I can say I never have found anything that so filled the place."

Dr. J. H. Taft, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria and found it an excellent remedy in my household and private practice for many years. The formula is excellent."

Dr. R. J. Hamlen, of Detroit, Mich., says: "I prescribe your Castoria extensively, as I have never found anything to equal it for children's troubles. I am aware that there are imitations in the field, but I always see that my patients get Fletcher's."

Dr. Wm. J. McCann, of Omaha, Neb., says: "As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine, and aside from my own family experience I have in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."

Dr. J. R. Clauson, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "The name that your Castoria has made for itself in the tens of thousands of homes blessed by the presence of children, scarcely needs to be supplemented by the endorsement of the medical profession, but I, for one, most heartily endorse it and believe it an excellent remedy."

Dr. R. M. Ward, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Physicians generally do not prescribe proprietary preparations, but in the case of Castoria my experience, like that of many other physicians, has taught me to make an exception. I prescribe your Castoria in my practice because I have found it to be a thoroughly reliable remedy for children's complaints. Any physician who has raised a family, as I have, will join me in heartiest recommendation of Castoria."

PRESBYTERIANS PLAN GREAT CONVENTION

Will Be Held at Memphis in Interest of Home Missions.

Montreat, N. C., August 20.—An announcement of very special interest, not only to Presbyterians in Virginia and the Carolinas, but throughout the territory of the general assembly, will be that of the decision of the executive committee of foreign missions, the executive committee of home missions and the Laymen's Missionary Movement to hold another great missionary convention in February of next year. Memphis probably will be the place where the convention will be held, and in large attendance and satisfaction of program effort will be made to have this convention equal, if it does not surpass, the convention held in Birmingham in 1909 and that in Chattanooga the present year, both of which were held under the direction of the Laymen's Missionary Movement of the Southern Presbyterian Church, and both of which are recognized as among the greatest religious conventions ever held in the South. Foreign missions was the principal feature of the Birmingham and Chattanooga, but at Memphis the more significant emphasis will be placed upon home missions. The decision to hold the Memphis convention has just been decided as the result of a joint conference at Montreat.

Dr. Gilmore's Addresses.
During the present week one of the principal features of the program will be the addresses of Rev. J. D. B. Gilmore, D. D., of Chester, S. C., his subject to be "The Church and the Social Question." The General Assembly of the Southern Presbyterian Church has requested the theological seminary of the church to add to the curriculum of each seminary a course of study on this subject, thus recognizing its importance. Dr. Gilmore has made a close study of this subject, and is recognized as perhaps the best authority on the same within the bounds of the Southern Presbyterian Church.

Another special feature of the program for this week and next will be the addresses of Rev. Theron H. Rice, D. D., of Richmond, during the Bible hour each day. The epistle of Paul to the Galatians will furnish the basis for Dr. Rice's address this week. He ranks early as one of the ablest Bible students and expositors of the country, and hundreds of people heard him in the three addresses he delivered the past week.

Another speaker who will take a prominent part of the program through the remainder of the assembly is Rev. Andrew Allan, of Farmville, Va. Only recently Mr. Allan came to America from his native country, Scotland, and his first acquaintance with the Southern Presbyterian Church has been at Montreat. He has been received most cordially, and has impressed the summer assembly as a man of strong and splendidly trained intellect and of spiritual powers. The theme of his addresses during the remainder of the assembly will be "Some Secrets of Spiritual Power," and it is expected that these messages will contribute largely toward a fitting climax for the program of the summer.

Two lectures which will be heard with special interest before the assembly closes will be those of Rev. James P. Smith, D. D., of Richmond, a member of the staff of Stone Mountain, and a personal friend of both General Jackson and General Robert E. Lee. These two Confederate generals will furnish the subjects for the two lectures.

Montreat continues crowded with visitors and a good number of these will remain after the summer assembly closes. The climate and various other attractions of Montreat render it a place where the early fall can be enjoyed most thoroughly.

Among the plans which are being projected already for the entertainment of a larger number of visitors at Montreat next year is that for the erection of a building to be occupied specially by missionaries and their families.

A meeting will be held at Black Mountain this week in the interest of the establishment of another summer assembly ground near Montreat. This enterprise will be commenced by private subscription, some of whom believe it will be adopted as the summer home for the Western North Carolina Conference and other conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

It is true that the Southern Assembly is now in course of construction at Waynesville, but the assembly ground of Southern Methodism is not the property of the church; it is a private enterprise, being owned by a joint stock company, and the lots there are sold at much higher rates than will be the case near Black Mountain and Montreat. Should this last projected enterprise succeed, there will be four assembly grounds, near Black Mountain, not one of which will be three miles distant from that point, that of the Young Men's Christian Association, Young Women's Christian Association and Missionary Education Society, known as the Ridge, that of the Baptist denomination, known as Ridgecrest, Montreat, and the new assembly under consideration.

WOMAN FATALITY INJURED IN RUNAWAY ACCIDENT

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Montreat, Va., August 20.—Mrs. E. Rexrode, an aged woman of the Crabbottom Valley, was killed in a runaway accident on Saturday. She was in company with a young man named Hull, and returning from a visit to her sister, near Hightstown. A break in the harness caused the horse to take fright, and after a short mad dash ran the buggy into a large oak tree by the roadside. Here the animal got loose from the vehicle and ran on for a mile or more.

The young man was not seriously hurt, but the woman was found lying in an upright position close to the tree, against which she had struck with such violence as to produce fatal internal injuries. She died a few hours later.
